For the Journal. To the Whigs of the Fifth Electora

District." Mr. Epiror-Under the above caption here appears in the Commercial Review of Saturday last, quite a long communication from the pen of the Whig Elector, or, as he s pleased to style himself, the Whig "ban her man" for this Electoral District. It i evident, from the tone of that communication that the Fe Is in these parts are getting scare "some," and particularly, I think, from th piece before me, is the Whig Elector scared Well indeed, sir, may they be frightened. Fo one, I think their days of supremacy are gon past in North Carolina. Their lamp burn but dimly now. The campaign just close tame very near extinguishing its waning flame On the night of the 7th of November next, will go out forever! Mark this, sir. The object of the Elector's address is suff mently "pellucid." He fears the decisio of the ballot box in November, and the com munication before me is written for the purose, in the first place, of accounting for the tile less than defeat of the party on the 31 ultimo, and in the second place, to stir up the "faithful" for a desperate effort in the Presidential struggle, now fast approaching. It wont do. Mr. Davis, North Carolina cannot be Taylorized. Of this I think you ought, ere this, to be convinced.

The Whig "banner man" of the "fifth District," in endeavoring to apologize for the disastrous result of the Gubernatorial Election, (to the Whigs,) commits a most egregious blunder, according to my estimate, when he says that there is a falling off of the Democratic vote of one thousand. Now I say, and I will appeal to the official vote when it is published to sustain me, that Col. Reid has received a larger vote than any Democratic candidate for Governor has ever received in North Carolina, by at least eight or ten hundred votes. The Whig Elector has been led imo the same ridiculous mistake with the Raleigh Register, in adding up majorities instead of the actual vote. In the footing up of 38,-700 and 39,600 for Reid and Manly respectively, the majorities, instead of the vote, in seven or eight Counties, are added up. The vote for Reid must be over 40,000, and that for Manly fully 41,000. If the Elector will look into this he will see the mistake. The great object, however, of the Elector, is to break the tremendous fall which Whiggery has received, and, I suppose, under the circumstances, such mistakes are not altogether so heinous as they would otherwise be. Why, sir, to shew the reader that Democracy has gained upon Federalism, I ask nothng more than the recent vote, which shews vessel at 55 a 60 cents, in lots to suit. Also
